Houston Livestock Show & Rodeo Art Contest

Texas City ISD art students participated in the Houston Livestock Show & Rodeo (HLSR) School Art Competition on January 10th. These students worked very hard trying new techniques and mediums to create their best artwork to enter into the competition. Students from La Marque High School, Texas City High School, Blocker Middle School and Levi Fry Intermediate School received some of the top awards at the contest. The "Best of Show" and "Gold Medal" winners will advance to the Hayloft Gallery at the HLSR where they will be displayed and judged again. If chosen, their artwork will be auctioned off and awarded to the highest bidder, with the student receiving a portion of that bid. All of these students, including the Finalists, will have the opportunity to apply for the Western Art Academy for a 4-week art program as well as a 1-week art camp that will be covered in full. We are proud of these students and their art teachers, Megan Carpenter, Joan Finn, Desiree Haddock, Ada Martin, Jennifer Massie and Lola Rios.
